

Course Title:	Foundation Degree (FdA) Production Arts (Stage)
Duration of Course :	Two Years (34 weeks per year)
Entry Requirements:	You usually need two A-levels or equivalent, such as a BTEC Diploma or Extended Diploma; IB (International Baccalaureate); or Access to Higher Education Diploma. We encourage you to enquire about our courses even if you don't meet our standard entry requirements. We'll consider your evidence of personal, professional and educational experience which demonstrates your ability to study at degree level. However, some courses require a specific subject at A-level (or equivalent) and in such cases, it may not be possible to consider applicants without this. See  https://www1.uwe.ac.uk/study/applyingtouwebristol/undergraduateapplications/entryrequirements.aspx Applicants may be required to demonstrate a proficiency in both written and verbal English language. This will normally be at GCSE English or equivalent International English Language Testing System (IELTS) at 7.0 pass level or higher. The selection process is through interview. There are no interview fees. All applicants must be aged 18 or over at the start of the course
Course Outline: (no more than 250 words)	The FdA course is an intensive two-year course for students who already have some knowledge of Production Arts or students that have already gained a degree. The course provides students with advanced level skills and knowledge in Production Arts and technical theatre so that they can be employed directly on completion of the course in professional theatre companies and other related industries. In the first two terms the course provides grounding in all major production skills needed to work as a professional in the industry. Within this, students learn theoretical and practical aspects of production arts, lighting, sound, prop-making and scenic construction. They also learn a range of core skills in communication, problem solving, time management and leadership. In the following four terms students are treated as trainee professionals, with support and mentoring from School tutors. They work in Production Arts and technical teams on public productions and work closely with other production departments. Up to three weeks on placement with a professional organisation is an integral part of the second year enabling students to match their career aspirations to the practical reality of a professional environment. Students are usually also offered a series of mock-interviews with professionals from the relevant industry. Our success in graduate employment is excellent. Graduates go on to find careers in a wide range of jobs in stage management, lighting, sound, automation and construction working with companies such as the RSC, The Globe, The National, Cameron MacIntosh, and various other national and international theatre and production companies.

Method of study (for example, lectures, seminars, work placements); expected:	Scheduled learning includes lectures, small group seminars, tutorials, project supervision, demonstration, practical classes and workshops; fieldwork; external visits; work based learning on public shows; supervised time in studio/workshop. Independent learning includes hours engaged with essential reading, case study preparation, assignment preparation and completion etc. Scheduled sessions may vary slightly depending on the module. Average class size: The annual cohort size is usually 22-24 students. Classes are normally mainly taught in groups of 5 or 6, with occasional group session of up to 12 students. Placement learning: The programme includes a placement element. Students will normally spend three weeks on placement with a professional production company or organisation. The placement is arranged by negotiation between the student, the course tutor and the placement organisation with due regard to the student's profile, and other course commitments. Placements can be anywhere in the UK and previous placements have been offered at: Almeida, Birmingham Rep, Bristol Old Vic, Hampstead Theatre, Lyceum Edinburgh, Manchester Royal Exchange, National Theatre, RSC, Theatr Clwyd, The Watermill Reasonable accommodation and travel expenses incurred whilst on placement will be reimbursed by the School.
Workload including number of contact hours with School staff and expected self-study:	The course is immersive with structured learning occurring for normally at least 35 hours per week across the 68 weeks of the programme. When not on placement students would normally be in class Monday – Friday, 0930 -1730. During Production weeks these hours might extend to include evenings up to 10.00pm and a few hours during some weekends between 9.00am and 10.00pm.

The overall methods of assessment for the Modules (for example exams, course work or practical assignments):	Students are assessed on their professional practice on a pass or fail basis. Students are expected to write short evaluations to reflect on their learning. Any written coursework is based on industry paperwork not theoretical essays. The majority of study centres on the production of public performances in which students assume a variety of roles. Judgements about students' performance in these roles are an important part of the summative assessment and relate to relevant industry standards, based on industry job descriptions. UWE qualifications are awarded as non-classified/non-differentiated. Each module has one element of assessment and students are assessed on specified competencies in each module and ability to work to a project brief.
The award students will receive on successful completion of their Course:	Foundation Degree (FdA) Production Arts (Stage), validated by UWE Bristol.
